Two Connecticut Students Earn Top Honors at Nationals

Congratulations to two students from Greenwich High School who were among the top finishers at the 2023 National Junior Science and Humanities Symposium (JSHS) in Virginia Beach, VA, April 12–15, 2023.

2nd Place Oral Presenter, Biomedical Sciences: Senior Ambika Grover for her research involving design of a more effective emergency therapeutic treatment for ischemic stroke.

2nd Place Poster Presenter, Environmental Science: Junior Naomi Park for creation of a practical and efficient method for removing carbon dioxide and crude oil from water utilizing materials made from Styrofoam waste.

Grover and Parks were among five students who made up the Connecticut delegation to JSHS. They earned the right to present their research on the national stage by competing in the 60th Connecticut regional JSHS (CT-JSHS) on Saturday, March 4, 2023, at UConn Health in Farmington.
